HOSPITAL SECTION TAKES SHAPE

The new 153-bed acute-care section of the Kelowna General Hospital, in intermediate and final stages of construction here, is expected to be ready by early fall. Hospital administrator C. F. Lavery said Wednesday, "we hope to occupy the block B section in September, and we hope to call soon for tender construction estimates for block C (chronic-care unit). Working toward the fall deadline are Janin Western Con-

City's RCMP Rewarded For Months Of Hard Work

Kelowna's most serious robbery in recent years has been solved by RCMP after four months of investigation.

Two Kelowna youths today pleaded guilty before city magistrate D. M. White to stealing a safe which contained $15,000 to $20,000 in cash and almost $200,000 worth of securities.

The theft occurred Dec. 1, 1968 from the office of J. W. Hughes, located at 740 Harvey Ave.

Gordon Jerry Abrams, 19, RR 1, Kelowna, and Kenneth Unser, 20, RR 3, Kelowna, both were remanded today to April 10, after electing trial by magistrate and pleading guilty.

These two, plus a local juvenile, were arrested at their homes by Sgt. R. F. Sault and Const. Ken Davis (investigating the theft) between 5 and 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The juvenile, not identified, was apparently given $2,000 by the other two for his help in opening the safe, which was found a day after the robbery in woods near Black Mountain Road. He has been remanded in custody.

Unser and Abrams both said nothing except their pleas of guilty in court today. Abrams, dressed in a black turtleneck and wearing a thin goatee, was also given a suspended sentence on a separate charge of making an illegal left turn March 22.

Both are represented by Arthur Dawe, a local lawyer. Neither applied for bail.

Court was told the two youths broke into the rear of the Harvey Avenue office in the early hours of Dec. 1. They had earlier heard through casual conversation of the safe in the office.

The stolen safe was taken to a spot near Black Mountain Road but the two were unable to open it by themselves. The juvenile finally managed to break it open the next day.

The Mounties found the safe peeled open the next day, with many of the papers—including some securities—charred beyond recognition. None of the securities, nor the cash, has been recovered, and police are still trying to discover whether the securities were burned or disposed of in another way.

A police spokesman said today a large amount of physical evidence—foot prints, finger prints—was found at the scene. The spokesman did not disclose how the evidence was connected to the youths and the juvenile.

Two cars and several other items in the possession of the three were seized by the police, who said in court the youths had used some of the money to buy cars. Both were purchased out of town, one in Vancouver, the other in Saskatoon.

The three were suspected by police for a month before the arrest, the spokesman said, and the robbery was finally solved with the aid of other B.C. RCMP detachments.

Unser and Abrams will be sentenced on the breaking, entering and theft charges April 10, after a pre-sentence report is prepared.

Pulp Mills 'Flout Law' On Pollution

VICTORIA (CP)—An opposition MLA Wednesday told the B.C. legislature that pulp mills in Prince George have been allowed to flout pollution control standards.

Tom Berger (NDP—Vancouver Burrard) said "Northwood Pulp Company has been allowed to thumb its nose at the law for three years now."

His statements came during discussion of estimates for the department of lands, forests and water resources.

Both Mr. Berger and Opposition leader Robert Strachan accused Resources Minister Ray Williston, the MLA for Fort George, of "misleading the house" in stating that Northwood had experienced a problem but an on-the-spot check in April 1968 had shown the problem had been corrected, Mr. Berger said.

A month later the PCB sent a letter to Northwood saying pollution was three times above the acceptable level, stipulated in the original permit of operators granted to Northwood three years ago, the NDP MLA said.

For more than two years the PCB had been extending a deadline for the mill to rectify the problem, he said.

But on Feb. 11, six days after Mr. Williston spoke in the house and said the problem had been corrected, the board sent a new letter to the mill setting a new deadline of March 1968, Mr. Berger said.

The opposition MLA said Prince George Pulp and Paper, with a startup in 1966, was still not meeting their required standards in January 1969.

Tempers Flare In Legislature

Bonner Accused Of Poor Conduct

VICTORIA (CP)—Opposition leader Robert Strachan told reporters outside the British Columbia legislature Wednesday night that former attorney-general Robert Bonner was "guilty of conduct unworthy of a member of the legislature."

He said Mr. Bonner had "snuck into the seat of chairman" of the committee of the house to avoid voting on a non-confidence vote "because he had a vested interest."

The vote of non-confidence, survived by the government 28 to 20, was moved by Tom Berger (NDP—Vancouver Burrard) during debate on estimates for Ray Williston's department of lands, forests and water resources. Mr. Berger charged that Mr. Williston had misled the house Feb. 5 when he told MLAs that Northwood Pulp Ltd. of Prince George had complied with pollution control board standards.

Shortly before the question was put to a vote Mr. Bonner replaced Herb Bruch (SC—Esquimalt) as chairman of the committee.

As soon as the vote was taken, Mr. Strachan left the house, to take up the matter with Speaker William Murray (SC—Prince Rupert). He told reporters that Mr. Bonner, as vice-president of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., had a vested interest in the forest industry and should not vote rather than use "the chair as an escape."

When he emerged from the Speaker's office, however, Mr. Strachan said the ruling had been "that any MLA has the privilege to sit in the chair."

Asked how he would have voted had he not been in the chair, Mr. Bonner said, "I would have voted for Mr. Williston, of course."

Told of Mr. Strachan's remarks, Mr. Bonner said, "That's a scurrilous remark to make."

"I'm astonished that anyone should take that position."

"I'm not sitting in this house as an employee of anyone, I'm sitting as the member for Cariboo."

'Private Forest Empires' Prime Target For Opposition

VICTORIA (CP)—Familiar Opposition cries of "legislation by exhaustion" punctuated debate in the British Columbia Legislature early today as weary MLAs sat through the longest sitting so far this session.

But Premier W. A. C. Bennett got what he wanted—approval of 1969-70 departmental estimates totalling $45,820,699 for Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources.

The House rose at 3:50 a.m. PST after nearly 12 hours of debate that often became heated as tempers wore thin while the minutes ticked away.

Bob Williams (NDP—Vancouver East) said it was "disgusting that the premier is trying to ram through the estimates of this department in one day."

Two Opposition attempts to adjourn debate on the estimates resulted in formal divisions but both were unsuccessful.

The premier taunted Opposition benches further by making a motion to introduce estimates of Mines Minister Frank Richter's department for debate after Mr. Williston's were approved.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan called his bluff and told the House the New Democratic Party would debate until noon if the premier introduced the mines estimates.

Mr. Bennett then withdrew his motion and the House adjourned to 2 p.m. today.

Earlier, Mr. Williams accused the Social Credit government of supporting a policy enabling monopoly forest companies to establish "corporate banana republics" and "private empires" in B.C.

He said Canadian Forest Products, MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., Ravnor, Crown Zellerbach and Tahsis Co. virtually control the northern half of Vancouver Island to the extent residents can't get summer home sites in recreational areas.

'The Loser Is The Public ...'

Through tree farm licences and pulp harvesting areas, more than 60,000 acres of land in B.C. had been given to a corporate few and made exempt from property taxation, he said.

"Competition within the industry has been virtually killed and the loser is the public."

"CONSPIRACY"

Large operators have cut the province into "spheres of influence" and "they don't move into each other's sphere... it's close to conspiracy."

Mr. Williston said the member "doesn't know what he's talking about."

During debate on his estimates, Mr. Williston said the U.S. may eliminate tariffs on imported Canadian plywood.

He said a committee in Washington studying the high cost of housing telephoned him wondering if the situation in B.C. could basically assist them.

Mr. Williston said the committee asked "if the tariff on plywood was taken off would it increase the supply of plywood into their market?" which would reduce prices if B.C. could meet the demand.

Opposition members earlier criticized the government for allowing wood product prices to soar on the domestic market.

"VESTED INTEREST"

Outside the House, Mr. Strachan told reporters former attorney-general Robert Bonner (SC—Cariboo) had used the position of chairman of the House to escape a vote in which he had "a vested interest."

He said Mr. Bonner "snuck into the seat of chairman" after Tom Berger (NDP—Vancouver Burrard) moved a non-confidence motion charging Mr. Williston misled the house when he said Northwood Pulp Ltd. of Prince George had complied with pollution control standards.

Before the vote, which the government survived 28 to 20, Mr. Bonner, a MacMillan Bloedel vice-president, took the chair.

Mr. Strachan said Mr. Bonner should have announced he would rather not vote rather than use "the chair as an escape."

Debate on Mines Minister Frank Richter's departmental estimates, totalling $5,329,208 is expected to start later today.

Ayub's Quitting, Martial Law Restore Calm To Pakistan

KARACHI (AP)—The resignation of President Mohammed Ayub Khan and the imposition of martial law have restored calm to Pakistan.

Schools and universities opened today for the first time in four months. Mills and factories neared full production again after a series of strikes.

Long lines formed outside police stations as citizens handed in firearms in accordance with martial-law orders. In Karachi, police said 15,000 pistols and rifles were turned in Wednesday.

Workers were scrubbing buildings during the last four months of anti-government agitation that brought the Moslem country of 120,000,000 close to civil war.

Troops guarded such vital installations as radio stations and government buildings but otherwise were not seen much on the streets.

The new military ruler is Gen. A. M. Yahya Khan, appointed supreme commander by Ayub Khan when the president resigned Tuesday after 10 years in power. Ayub was in seclusion in the capital, Rawalpindi.

There has been no public response from opposition political leaders to the martial law, which prohibits them from criticizing the law or its administrators. Under martial law, the administration can punish by death persons convicted of destroying public property, smuggling, damaging vital installations or attacking members of the armed forces.

Anyone taking part in a strike can be imprisoned for 14 years and anyone criticizing martial law can receive up to 10 years in prison.

TRUDEAU REPORTS

No Protest Nor Agreement Given U.S. On Missiles Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Trudeau said Wednesday Canada neither protested against nor agreed to the U.S. plan for the Sentinel counter-missile system.

He told opposition questioners in the Commons that the defensive missile system was entirely within U.S. territory and within U.S. jurisdiction.

"The U.S. government 'from time to time' provided Canada with information on Sentinel."

But the U.S. "at no time sought our agreement to their right to pursue the implementation of that system, nor did we give them any such agreement."

The U.S. did not consider that Canada has veto power over the implementation of its counter-missile system, now a modified version of Sentinel called Safeguard.

Views expressed publicly by U.S. Defence Secretary Melvin Laird on U.S.-Canada arrangements over the missiles are "compatible or in conformity" with Canadian government views. If there was a difference, it was more a matter of semantics than substance.

Mr. Laird was referring to the "ongoing arrangement of continental defence whereby the U.S. gives Canada information."

"He was not referring to any agreement under which we have said: Okay, you can proceed with the Sentinel system."

Mr. Trudeau gave a brief report on his two-day Washington visit, during which Safeguard figured prominently in talks between Mr. Trudeau and President Nixon.

The prime minister said it will be some time before the Canadian government takes a public position on the system, which could lob Spartan missiles to destroy enemy nuclear missiles over Canada.

At the Washington talks, "we did express our deep concern as to the consequences and effect" of the Nixon decision of 10 days ago to proceed with Safeguard.

Mr. Trudeau said he did not raise with Mr. Nixon the question of whether the U.S. should consult with Canada before deciding to proceed with a particular form of continental defence.

Reacting to opposition demands for a decision soon on the Canadian position, Mr. Trudeau said there is plenty of time to consider it.

The two-site plan "will only become operational, if it ever does, around 1973."

"This gives us more than a few days or weeks to take our position."

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Sweden rallied for three third-period goals against Ken Dryden to defeat Canada 4-2 today and eliminate the Canadian national team from medal contention in the world hockey tournament.

Rhodesia Denies Invasion Intent

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (Reuters)—Premier Ian Smith of Rhodesia today described a statement by President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia that Rhodesia is planning an armed attack on his country as "an absolute figment of the imagination."

After 13 years of marriage, Doreen Baker said she couldn't go on living with a man who did all the cooking, cleaning and shopping.

She tried Wednesday to get a divorce from 58-year-old Frederick Baker, charging him with refusing to allow her "the status of a normal housewife." That was cruelty, she said.

Her lawyer told Judge Stanley Rees that Mrs. Baker, 41, was allowed only once in her married life to go shopping on her own. When she returned home, her husband examined all her purchases and found these mistakes:

1. She bought a shopping bag for four cents although there was a good one at home she could have used.

2. She had bought a brand of flour that cost five cents more than the kind Baker always bought.

3. She had gone to the butcher shop "on the wrong day and had consequently bought unsatisfactory meat."

"What probably made it all the harder for her to bear was that he was correct on all three points," the judge commented.

But he turned down Mrs. Baker's request for a divorce, ruling that although her husband may have been "irritating and tactless," he was never cruel. The judge added that Baker had written to his wife, telling her if she came home he would share the housework with her.

Jordan Calls For UN Meeting To Discuss Israeli Air Attacks

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Jordan set up a meeting of the United Nations Security Council today so it could ask for action to stop Israeli air raids on its territory.

Jordanian Ambassador Muhsen al-Husseini requested the council meeting after Israeli planes raided around the town of Salt Wednesday. Jordan said 18 civilians were killed and 25 wounded.

El-Farra's letter to council President Karoly Csaradov of Hungary asked that the council adopt more "adequate and effective measures to check Israeli acts of aggression."

It was expected to counter Jordan's demand with a demand that the council do something to halt Arab attacks on Israel.

No resolution censuring the Arabs stands a chance of council approval because of the Soviet veto, Israel therefore is certain to continue its reprisals for attacks by the Arab commandos to matter what action the council takes.

The meeting, today is the council's first on the Middle East since Dec. 31, when it condemned Israel's commando raid on the Beirut airport in reprisal for an Arab attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens.

Meanwhile, U.S. Soviet, British and French delegates prepared to begin Big Four meeting late next week seeking to formulate a plan to bring peace between the Arabs and Israel.

Wilson Arrives In Nigeria With Plea To Stop Bombs

Prime Minister Wilson flew to Lagos today to seek a bombing halt as a step toward ending the civil war between Nigeria and secessionist Biafra. The British leader also plans to present proposals for extending mercy facilities to alleviate civilian starvation and suffering on both sides of the firing line. Sources close to the government said Wilson is prepared to agree to one exception—bombing of Biafra's lone airstrip near the village of Uli. Although the landing strip is used by planes bringing relief supplies, it also receives planes bringing arms by night, and Wilson therefore would find it hard to object to continued bombing there. Wilson said in a radio interview before his departure that he does not think mediation is possible at present. If it were, he said, it would have to be carried out by Africans through the Organization for African Unity.

The federal government has paid $551,000 to the provinces in university grants in the 1962-63 fiscal year, Robert Stanbury, parliamentary secretary to State Secretary Gerard Pelletier told the Commons Wednesday. Mr. Stanbury said the grants are made in the form of tax transfers and were not refused by any province.

Members of the British Columbia legislature stood in silent reflection Wednesday after Premier Bennett informed the House of the death of Job Calder, 79, father of Frank Calder, New Democratic MLA for Altna. Mr. Calder, a veteran MLA, was in the House as the tribute was paid to his father, patriarch and leading hereditary chief of the Nishga Indian tribe in the Nass River area of northern B.C.

Trapper John Spence had his left arm amputated at the shoulder after he was mauled by a polar bear with cubs 10 days ago in Northern Manitoba. The 25-year-old man was tending trappings about 85 miles southeast of Churchill, on Hudson Bay, and had to walk or crawl nearly a mile to camp. He was taken to Churchill by dog sled and flown to Winnipeg by Canadian Forces plane.

Veteran reporter Joseph Harold Guilfoyle, who worked for the morning Province for 23 years, died today in Vancouver. He was 59.

Frank Joseph Little, 50, was sentenced in Matsqui Wednesday here to 18 months imprisonment for escaping Feb. 24 from the Matsqui Federal Institution. He was recaptured in Vancouver March 20.

Agriculture Minister Hermann Hoechehl told questioners in the West German parliament that existing international agreements can have only a limited effect in preventing cruelty to seals. He was asked by a group of 17 women Bundestag lower house deputies whether the government is satisfied that current agreements ensure that white coat pelts imported from Canada and other countries do not include skins torn from the backs of live baby seals.

A hearing for Stanley Gray, a political science lecturer at McGill University, was adjourned in Montreal Wednesday almost as soon as it began when Mr. Gray insisted that his lawyer present their case in French. The three-man arbitration board, set up to hear the case involving Mr. Gray and the McGill administration, sent out for a French court stenographer.

Myrna Margaret Greene, a 29-year-old entertainer who bills herself as the Dresden Doll, was charged in Winnipeg today with putting on an immoral, indecent, obscene performance at a noon-hour rally at the University of Winnipeg March 13. She pleaded not guilty in magistrate's court and trial was set for April 16.

In St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Dr. Lyman Spire of Fayetteville, N.Y., has caught what appears to be another world record wahoo in Virgin Island waters, it was reported today. Dr. Spire brought in the 50-pounder on 10-pound test line using spinning gear Monday. The angler, who already has one world mark to his credit will submit the catch to the International Spin Fishing Association for certification. The present record on 10-pound test line is 37 pounds nine ounces.

A Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature Wednesday introduced a private member's bill for the regulation of tobacco advertising. James Chabot (S.C.-Columbia), a 41-year-old father of six and a self-admitted smoker, said he hopes his bill will gain at least approval in principle. It's doubtful it would become law, at least at this session, with prorogation expected by Easter.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blood disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Agricultural Meeting Ends After Wide-Ranging Discussion

OTTAWA (CP) — National marketing boards, separate programs for commercial and low-income farmers and a bigger say for producer organizations in farm policy decision-making emerged as the major areas of agreement as the Canadian agriculture congress submitted its final report here today.

The 400 delegates from 132 organizations met for the final session of the four-day congress today after three days of intensive study of 10 background papers prepared by a federal study group on agricultural policies and by a royal commission on farm machinery.

The final report also recognizes that there are many areas of disagreement.

Competition facing Canadian farmers from products grown in other countries with lower labor costs and high government subsidies was a large area of complaint. But the closest the delegates could come to agreement was an expression of support for pricing Canadian farm products as competitively as possible.

CAUTION WAS URGED

The congress agreed that regional disparities exist in farm income. But there were warnings that caution was needed to ensure that removal of regional disparities did not cause new problems.

Suggestions for solving the problem of low-income farmers included short-term development programs which would require large amounts of labor and yield rapid results.

The role of government in agriculture brought calls for more research on forecasting techniques for producing and marketing, integration of federal government departments to prevent conflict among policies affecting farmers, auditing of government programs by non-government agencies, and a 50-per-cent representation of farm representatives on government consultative bodies.

Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson and the agriculture ministers from New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, and the three Prairie provinces took part in the conference.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market posted a fractional advance in light trading today.

Gold fell 4.50 to 247.14 after a small opening gain. European bullion prices were higher with London gold up 3 1/2 cents to $43.46. The gold index fell sharply Wednesday after a report that South Africa may sell half its newly mined gold to the free market and half to official monetary institutions.

In golds, Dome fell 1 to 81 and Campbell Red Lake 2 1/2 to 32.

Price Co. was up 1/2 to 15 1/2. The Exchequer Court of Canada ruled favorably on MacLean Mining's claim for new mine status. MacLean Mining, a subsidiary of Price, stands to recover about $2,775,000 plus interest, representing the amount paid in income taxes, from the judgment.

Aircraft Exhibit Friday Highlight

About 92 delegates today heard Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association president Jim Charpentier, of Kelowna, welcome them to the fourth Southern Interior fire control course, being held at the Capri today and Friday.

Welcoming remarks were brought from the city by Acting Mayor Hilbert Roth.

The first session covered practice and procedures with respect to all phases of slash disposal. The lecturer was J. D. Bailey, of the B.C. Forest Service in Victoria.

The session also dealt with slash disposal by industry, presented by Don Fraser, of Holding Lumber, Kamloops.

Development of cutting plans, with respect to protection and site preparation, presented by Dennis McDonald, B.C. Forest Service officer from Kamloops, made up the second morning session.

The 92 delegates attending the two days of sessions are representatives of the forest industry in the Southern Interior, along with 33 forest students from Selkirk College in Castlegar.

A study of weather in relation to slash disposal was slated for the first afternoon meeting today, presented by Harvey Raynor, department of transport weather observer.

The 2:15 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. session today, was to cover a review of various contract conditions and procedures, and was scheduled to be given by B.C. Forest Service officer, Brian Collins, of Kamloops.

John Muraro, from the department of fisheries and forestry in Victoria, will present at Friday's first session a progress report on research in controlled burning in the B.C. Interior.

Section 11 of the Forest Act and the responsibilities of licensees, is slated to be studied by delegates at Friday's 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon meeting, Dennis McDonald presiding.

Safety and the use of helicopters in fire control will be demonstrated Friday afternoon at the Kelowna Airport, by Don McKenzie, Okanagan Helicopter pilot from Nelson. Also participating at the airport will be Les Kerr, of the Skyways water-bomber firm at Abbotsford.

Right-Of-Way For Elephants But Blacks Are Second Class

Canadians are the most fortunate people in the world and should be more proud and appreciative of their country, an African traveller from Kamloops told 85 Canadian Club members at the Royal Anne Wednesday night.

Fred Parker, retired food wholesaler, told the dinner meeting: "We in Canada should often take a few minutes to pause and review our many blessings, instead of indulging in complaining and criticism of our various spheres of government."

Mr. Parker and his wife recently returned from a five-month tour of the African and South American continents.

An observer of African development for many years, Mr. Parker commented at length on details of government, education and the way of life of the people.

On the question of apartheid, of segregation of blacks from whites, particularly practiced in South Africa, the traveller said, "Apartheid, or, separate development, is the basic policy of the (South African) government."

"After one has spent a little while there one feels this is the answer to a very complex problem."

"True, there are disadvantages, but when one considers all African tribes are exclusive and will not co-operate with one another for any length of time, as tribal conflict is inbred in them, one can see that trouble can be controlled by having legislation to keep the groups on their own."

Mr. Parker said Rhodesia, as he saw it, was a country that has been in the headlines far too long, where the political problem has been over-dramatized and over simplified.

"One gets the impression the black there are a more stable and reasoning type than in some other African countries," he said.

Following his long, detailed talk, Mr. Parker showed the 85 members a selection of color slides from a total of 1,200 he took on the trip.

Many were close-up pictures of native life, and during shots taken while travelling through government wild animal parks.

One scene showed a sign reading "Beware of Crocodiles", with a little monkey sitting on top dangling his tail over the sign face.

Another sign read: "Queen Elizabeth National Park. Elephants have Right-of-Way."

Kelowna People Thanked For Helping UN Operation

The model United Nations "Operation Bed and Breakfast" has come up with a staggering 320 billets for student delegates attending the weekend "General Assembly" meeting in Kelowna.

Grade 12 Kelowna Secondary School student John MacLachlan, weekend secretary-general, said today, "Families have offered to put up 320 delegates and that should be enough."

"Quite a few more than we thought are staying with friends and relatives."

"One family is taking 15, and they live in an apartment."

About 30 delegates have already arrived in the city from Edmonton, coming in by train early today.

Throughout the morning, City of Kelowna work crews were hoisting flags for the event along Harvey Avenue, Bernard Avenue, and in front of city hall.

"Everything seems to be working pretty well," said John who has just returned from a visit to the real UN assembly in New York.

The secretary-general said high school delegates, from all over Western Canada, Washington, and the Northwest Territories, would be attending the session in costumes native to the countries they represent.

"I want to thank the people of Kelowna for opening their doors wide to all the students for the weekend," he said.

"All sessions are open to the public."

SEEN and HEARD

Because of the large volume of news being prepared for the annual progress edition Saturday, Wednesday's Courier was extremely late getting onto the street and to your carrier boy. The carriers worked as quickly as possible to make their rounds and should not be blamed for the late delivery.

Vandals, wind or maintenance men? The cause is unknown, but the result is a downed "Kelowna Regatta" sign at the end of Bernard Avenue early today. Evidence at the scene includes a gaping hole where a hook might have pulled out; a broken sign board; a derelict number "9" lying on the ground and a set of dusty sneaker prints running across the sign board face. Okopogo's back remained unbroken, as the imperturbable monster basked in the warm morning sun.

As the old song goes: When the Swallows Come Back to... Would you believe Mill Creek nearly a week earlier than usual. A long-time city resident said Swallows, or Sand Martins, were seen around the creek today and for the past 20 years they have never winged into the area before the beginning of April.

The Okanagan is receiving a boost in a record commissioning by the B.C. department of travel industry. The world premiere performance of the British Columbia Suite was performed in Vancouver recently by Nelson Bidale, the man whose orchestra is heard backing Frank Sinatra on most of his songs. Bidale conducted his 65-piece orchestra in such numbers as: The Okanagan, Cariboo, Peace River, Haida Indians and Butchart's Gardens. The LP will go on sale throughout the United States this month.

DIRECTING

The Canadian School of Ballet, under the direction of Kelowna's Dr. Gweneth Lloyd, will produce The Small House of Uncle Thomas ballet in the musical The King and I here next month. The Rogers and Hammerstein musical will be staged April 22 to 26 at the Kelowna Community Theatre by The Kelowna Theatre Players. Dr. Lloyd received her honorary doctorate from the University of Calgary in 1968 and was later awarded the medal of service of the order of Canada. She will travel to Ottawa April 6 to receive the award from the governor-general.

FIRE CONTROL STUDIED

About 90 representatives of forest industry in the southern Interior, including 33 forestry students from Selkirk College, Castlegar, are attending the course, sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association of B.C. and the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association. — (Courier Photo)

Challenge Shows Best Valley Form

Give the Okanagan a tough job, with a deadline, and the challenge will produce interesting results.

More specifically, give four men from Kelowna and Penticton less than one week to prepare a Canadian Winter Games brief and the result is an impressive, professional presentation which just might bring the 1971 games to the Central and South Okanagan.

A brief went to Deputy Provincial Secretary Laurie Vallée last week, but not before several hundred hours of work by Kelowna's special events co-ordinator Jim Hayes and parks and recreation commission superintendent Gordon Smith, along with Penticton Mayor Doug Stuart and his administrative assistant G. J. Sewell.

Are you troubled by a steady string of latives and friends who come to visit every summer? Try accommodating more than 8,000 people, all in one night. The two cities can do that easily and if the people who award the games aren't impressed with the Okanagan brief there will have to be a good explanation of why not.

The brief, isn't long and awkward, only 30 neat, uncluttered pages.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett lends his support on the opening page, while the second page includes a mileage map, with Summerland taken as the central point.

Color photographs of both cities are included, along with photos of major facilities in both cities.

A formal invitation is made to the Canadian Amateur Sports Federation to stage the games in Kelowna and Penticton Feb. 13 to 21, 1971. A general description of the cities is accompanied by temperature and precipitation figures for the past 30 years from the Summerland experimental station.

For example, the average February temperature is 30.8 degrees above zero, with the average low 24.7 and the average high 36.9.

A dozen and a half major conventions, festivals and sporting events handled by the cities in recent years are listed, to prove the Valley's ability to stage the games; events such as the Canadian Curling Championship, the Dominion Drama Festival, Final and unlimited hydroplane races in Kelowna and the Dominion Legion convention and the senior amateur hockey championship in Penticton, along with a host of regional and provincial championships in both cities.

The CASF is guaranteed a large number of capable, volunteer workers, who, with professional supervision, will be able to organize and run the games in the expected high standard.

If the games are awarded to Kelowna and Penticton a Games Society will be formed immediately and an office will be opened in one of the two cities, with a satellite office in the other city.

There are full details on all facilities in both cities and neighboring ski resorts.

The 12 compulsory sports are listed, each with description of facilities on hand or required, for the sports. The same applies to the four optional sports, which give the games a total of 16 events, to attract some 3,000 competitors, 1,000 officials and newsmen and thousands of spectators.

Only three major facilities will have to be built, a ski jump, a speed-skating oval and a swimming pool.

All accommodation has been booked in both cities, pending the announcement about where the games will be held, expected by April 15.

Operating expenses have been estimated at $636,000, to be paid in full by the federal government. Capital costs, shared one third by Ottawa, one third by Victoria and one third by the two host cities, have been estimated at $700,000, with Kelowna and Penticton having to split $233,334.

The brief says "The staging of the 1971 Canadian Winter Games in two sister cities will provide major impetus to amateur sport and provide an unparalleled opportunity for B.C. athletes to compete with their fellow Canadians in the environment of this country's major amateur sports event."

"The staging of these events under the most ideal weather conditions of any area in Canada must encourage increased participation by athletes from all areas of the country, and at the same time provide ideal conditions for spectator participation."

"The fact that two cities of combined population of 36,000 can successfully host the Canadian Winter Games will be a major encouragement to other cities of moderate size to participate in this major sports undertaking. The creation of new facilities, not possible by local means alone, will thus have a lasting effect on the ultimate quality and performance among amateur Canadian athletes."

"The 1971 Winter Games in Kelowna and Penticton, supported by the Province of British Columbia, the westernmost province of our nation, will do much to strengthen friendships and understanding among athletes and sportsmen throughout the provinces and territories, thus fostering our national unity."

"The conduct of the games in B.C. in 1971 would focus national attention on the centennial of this province's entry into Confederation, and no more appropriate time for this event could be found."

The brief includes street maps of both cities, letters of support from ski developments at Apex Alpine, Last Mountain and Big White Mountain, photos of the three hills and accounts of present and planned developments; and pledges of support from both mayors, both school districts, the medical professions in both cities and the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce.

Extra copies of the brief are being prepared, since the information, although put together in a hurry, will be of untold benefit in future years for groups seeking to attract major events to either city.

The co-operation to date has already gone a long way toward helping Kelowna and Penticton plan in unison for the future.

Leave The Bathtub At Home But Bring Your Voice Along

Are you dreaming of Jeannie with the light brown hair? Got the urge to raise your bathtub tenor in sweet harmony?

You'll get your chance Monday evening at the Capri when SPEBSQSA (short for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet singing in America) members hold an "Introduction to Barbershop" night.

To provide a musical introduction to the continent-wide 30,000-member organization will be the Peach City Chorus, Penticton's 35-man club, plus that city's quartet, the Peach Tones. Penticton president Mike Sich and the musical director Don Sutherland will also be there.

Special guest for the evening will be Ted McAlpine, area councillor for the Vancouver SPEBSQSA.

Three local barbershoppers, Don Jabor, Peter Soehn and Ross Dixon, are attempting to organize a branch here and are looking for male singers.

The society has one purpose, expressed by its motto—keep America singing. Started in 1938 at Tulsa, Okla., the society has sung its way into 675 communities, to become the largest all-male singing group in the world.

What is barbershop music, that melodious crooning that rings of sarabande, straws hats and red-stripe shirts? The melody is usually sung by the "lead". The "tenor" part, comparable to high alto, is customarily sung above the lead, giving the music its distinct quality. Bass and baritone sing lower than the lead.

The harmony is four-part, unaccompanied, with at least one harmonizing chord for every note. Sometimes there are several chords on each melody note, and these are called "swipes".

Or as one songster put it, "Barbershop quartet singing is four guys tasting the holy essence of four individual mechanisms coming into complete agreement."

SUNNY weather is forecast for Kelowna and district Friday, with the exception of a few cloudy periods during the day. Sunny with a few cloudy periods today, with light winds. Low temperature tonight and the high Friday are forecast for 35 and 50 degrees. Wednesday's high and low were 55 and 40 degrees, compared with temperatures of 51 and 44 on the same date a year ago.

TONIGHT

The annual meeting of the Rutland Fire Protection District and election of two trustees takes place at the fire hall today at 9 p.m. Business will include fire chief Norton Wood's annual report, the auditor's report and others.

Fruits' Damage Estimates Firm

Fears that peach and apricot crops have been damaged beyond the possibility of a commercial harvest this year are being confirmed.

Okanagan horticulturalists, continuing investigation of damage to fruit and fruit trees in the valley by last winter's cold snap, say earlier estimates of damage are accurate.

Until blossom time, however, exact estimates of damage will not be available.

"The overall picture has not really changed from what we said during the winter," John Smith, supervising horticulturalist in Kelowna, said today.

Kelowna, which is basically an apple-growing area, may have escaped with less damage than other areas of the Valley growing more tender fruits, Mr. Smith feels.

"Bouquets" of various fruit varieties have been taken into greenhouses to force out early blossoms and indicate the exact amount of damage. These experiments have been conducted in all three major centres in the Valley, and results show similar trends the length of the Okanagan.

Speaking for the Kelowna area, Mr. Smith predicted the following: a good apple crop in sight; peaches and apricots damaged beyond a commercial harvest; cherries, prunes, Bartlett pears, harvest will be down. He said there also may have been some tree damage, but confirmation of this will have to wait.

In the Penticton area, the word is the same. Maurice Trumppour, district horticulturalist there, said Wednesday a "pretty good" apple crop and a "reasonable" pear harvest can be expected.

Lambert and Van cherries in the Penticton area should produce a healthy crop, but prospects for Bing cherries are "much poorer", according to Mr. Trumppour.

The Vernon district horticulturalist was not available for comment.

The Kelowna area may have a "moderately early blossom time" this year, according to Mr. Smith, but this will depend on weather during the next month.

"There have been years when we have had apricot blossoms by this time," he said. "The cold weather in December and January would not necessarily affect the blossom time."

The damage to grape crops is still mostly undetermined, according to Lloyd Schmidt, manager of the Beau Sejour Vineyards Ltd. in Kelowna.

Earlier this year, Mr. Schmidt said some damage has definitely been done to certain varieties of grapes, and especially in the high and exposed areas.

However, grapes must go through two blossoms before the extent of frost damage can be learned accurately.

Public Meeting Thursday On Vital Area Water Issue

A public meeting on Okanagan water resources will be held in Vernon today.

Sponsored by the Vernon Fish and Game Club, in co-operation with the Okanagan-Similkameen Wildlife Association, the meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Vernon Elks Hall.

A cross-section of resources managers including political, civil-service, civic and citizen-volunteer endeavor have been invited to engage in a panel address on the topic: the implications of changing patterns of water use, water quality and diversion upon the recreational characteristics of the Okanagan water basin.

Invitations have gone to Mrs. Pat Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan; the planning directors for the three regional districts in the valley, T. J. Connelly, W. G. Hardcastle and D. N. McDonald; Dave Hurn, regional supervisor of the Fish and Wildlife branch, Okanagan region; Ray Dwyer, president of the Penticton Chamber of Commerce; Alex Gough, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Mayor Doug Stuart of Penticton, acting chairman of the Okanagan Basin Water Board; Alan Hassell, Vernon; Howard Paish, executive director of the B.C. Wildlife Federation; and Basil Edwards of Lumby who has completed a brief on an alternate water diversion into the Okanagan system.

Alf Kohlhauser, who heads the Okanagan-Similkameen Wildlife Association, says this type of meeting is the new conservation face of rod and gun clubs. He has publicly stated that to perpetuate wildlife resources for hunting and fishing everyone has to get involved in base-resource management. And that, he claims, is synonymous with perpetuating a quality environment for the work and leisure of everyday living.

Frank Whitecotton, president of the Vernon Fish and Game Club will open the meeting and Wolfgang Rosner of the Vernon club will present the panelists to address the meeting.

One Month For Ricketts

Sandy Ricketts, Kelowna, has been sentenced to 30 days in jail for his part in a brawl with police Feb. 11 outside a downtown restaurant.

He was convicted last week before district magistrate G. S. Denroche of obstructing a police officer.

Sentenced Wednesday to one year definite and one year indeterminate in jail was Robin Ricketts, Sandy's brother, convicted of assaulting a police officer.

Given a one-year suspended sentence on probation in connection with the same incident was Louis Dilson, also of Kelowna, convicted of obstructing a police officer.

NO AGE GAP HERE

When a common enemy such as cancer is involved, the so-called "generation gap" falls away. Marina Maundrell, 17, Lady of the Lake, accepting a donation for the Canadian Cancer Society from 88-year-old Charles Gowen, the first service station operator in the Kelowna area. Well-known to Kelowna old-timers for his talents as a singer and poet, Mr. Gowen has joined Marina in the campaign to defeat cancer. April is Cancer Month, the two point out, and the Cancer Society is trying the best to bridge another gap—the financial one. (Courier photo)

Donors Wanted

Rutland residents are being asked to donate at least 150 pints of blood Friday as the Red Cross holds its annual spring blood donor clinic.

Clinic hours are between 4 and 8 p.m. at the health centre on Grey Road. Organizations of 10 members or more will be vying for a shield for the highest percentage of donors. The Rutland Lions Club won the award last year, but by only a narrow margin. The clinic is directed generally at public response.

Vimy Ridge Remembered

Members of Branch 26, Kelowna, Royal Canadian Legion will gather April 9 to honor veterans of Canada's most famous battle—Vimy Ridge.

The 52nd anniversary of the First World War battle will be honored by the presence of about 30 Vimy veterans and several hundred other veterans at a banquet at the legion hall, 1633 Ellis St., beginning at 7 p.m.

UN Peacekeeping Force In Cyprus Down To 3,500

The United Nations peacekeeping force in Cyprus, which completed its fifth year of operation Wednesday, is down to 3,500 men—little more than half its peak number.

A 25-per-cent cut in the troops was made during the last year, an indication of a more peaceful atmosphere between the Greek and Turkish-Cypriot communities on this Mediterranean island.

There was also a major reduction in the number of UN outposts scattered across the island, another sign that the international force is fulfilling its mandate.

Canada now has 587 men in the force. The Canadian force is in the process of being rotated with the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment replacing the 3rd Battalion of the same regiment. The rotation is expected to be completed by the end of this month.

On March 4, 1964, 22 days before the troops arrived here, the UN Security Council defined their function as "preventing a recurrence of fighting and contributing to the maintenance of law and order and a return to normal conditions."

The latest six-month mandate from the Security Council expires in June. By that time, the force will have cost a total of $110,000,000. Of this amount, $16,000,000 is still outstanding and must be recovered in voluntary contributions by UN member states. Canada pays the upkeep of its forces.

Only one UN soldier was killed by the hostile action in Cyprus—a Finnish radio operator struck by machine-gun fire in May, 1964.

However more than 30 UN soldiers were killed and 100 injured in traffic accidents.

UN supply trucks and jeeps cover 500,000 miles a month because of the island-wide distribution of troops. British helicopters attached to the force fly many thousands of miles monthly to the most-isolated mountain outposts.

Until the rival Turkish- and Greek-Cypriot communities reach final agreement on a joint administration, some kind of UN presence will be needed here as a buffer between the two sides.

The two communities have cautiously explored a settlement of their differences since June, 1968, yet each side maintains a fighting force of about 10,000 men.

Canada, Britain, Denmark, Sweden, Finland and Ireland have contributed battalion-strength contingents to the force. Austria sent a field hospital unit and civilian police units.

Heart Catheterization Provides Information

By DR. GEORGE THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any diagnostic benefit from heart catheterization other than to determine the possibility or advisability of having heart surgery? Is it considered an operation? About how long does the procedure take? What degree of risk is involved?—E.S.

Best way I can answer this question is to say that heart catheterization can provide quite a few types of information which cannot be as accurately determined by any other method.

Deciding whether heart surgery is advisable is very often the principal purpose, but this is not necessarily always the case.

The procedure is to insert a catheter, or supple tube, into a vein, usually in the arm, and slide it gently upward through the vein. As veins lead ultimately to the heart, that is where the catheter will go. By watching with a fluoroscope, the doctor can see exactly where the tip of the catheter is at any time.

Analysis of blood samples can give very exact figures on the amount of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the blood at strategic points. Pressures inside the heart chamber can be determined.

With these and other data, it is possible to determine with considerable accuracy the condition of various valves in the heart, the location (if any) of defects in the septum dividing wall between the left and right side of the heart, or other conditions interfering with efficient heart action.

In a word, it is possible to know some of these important facts exactly, rather than having to deduce from sounds (the stethoscope) or the overall shape of the heart (X-ray).

Yes, such catheterization is regarded as a surgical operation, with strict operating techniques—sterility, anesthesia, etc.

It takes at least an hour. Degree of risk? Small. But as I have said before and will doubtless say again, no surgical procedure can be regarded as totally without risk. The idea of having something inside the heart sounds perilous, but it actually is not. The catheter is soft, pliable, and smooth, and does not damage the heart tissues which, in any event, are pretty tough. They have to be, to perform their duties—somewhere around 100,000 heartbeats a day!

When the catheter is withdrawn, the only incision to be closed is the small one made to admit the catheter into the vein. So when you analyze the facts, the danger is far less than, evidently, you supposed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does frequent bathing cause rheumatoid arthritis? A couple of friends told me it did. But living and working on a farm calls for frequent baths. What else can I do to keep clean?—M. E. G.

Bathing doesn't cause rheumatoid arthritis; if it did, think how many people would have it. Wash in peace.

LETTER TO EDITOR

ON UFOs

Dear Sir: In reference to your article "Innerspacemen Responsible For Unidentified Flying Objects" (March 24), I wish to make it clear, as a student of Rutland Secondary School that we are not the only ones to hoax the people of the area. This "Flying Saucer" business is all in fun, this is just a hoax. The fact that the paper takes the liberty to make it sound as though Rutland is such a rough place.

I believe the first case of such hoaxes, were from boys in the Okanagan Mission area, using helium in their balloons.

In today's age, this is fun, just as the use of a two-foot diameter spider hanging in a tree some thirty odd years ago was fun to the boys of that generation. Perhaps this is just a hoax, but wouldn't you say this is quite ingenious on the part of the boys involved?

Yours truly,
GORDON WOULD.

OTTAWA REPORT

A Real Threat Exists From Reds' Forces

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Mons, Belgium: Is Russia better equipped militarily to attack the West today than it was 20 years ago? What is the nature of the Russian military threat? And does it menace Canada?

The answers to these questions should determine whether we should pull back our troops from Europe, or even get out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization altogether.

Here are the little known facts about Russia's immense potential for war. The Iron Curtain between the communist bloc and the western nations runs in a great loop from the northern tip of Norway, across Germany, splitting the Balkans and reaching to the eastern tip of Turkey. That front line is 3,700 miles long, half as long again as from Vancouver on the Pacific to Saint John on the Atlantic.

Behind that line, 2,750,000 communist soldiers face west, in 192 divisions. Of those, 132 divisions are Russian, and 60 are manned by troops of the satellite countries: East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. Russia has another 20 divisions facing east, beyond the Urals.

That immense army, the largest ever to stand to arms in the world's peacetime history, is supported by a formidable air armada. The Russians have 10,000 fighter planes, 1,950 bombers and 1,500 transport planes, reinforced by 2,500 satellite fighters.

COULD HIT AMERICA

That is all in Europe, far from Canada. But Russia has a huge airborne striking force of 50,000 crack troops. It also has a new "naval infantry", a specially trained amphibious force of 30,000 men organized into 10 brigades equipped with modern assault ships, and supported by a follow-up force of five mobile divisions. This is the land striking force of what has just become the world's largest navy, of 465,000 sailors on 20 cruisers, 210 destroyers, 410 submarines and 2,500 other vessels, mostly built in the past 10 years of sensational development. In contrast, most of the world's second largest navy, that of U.S.A., is more than 20 years old.

The spearhead of Russia's navy of course are those submarines, 55 of which are nuclear powered and 300 of which are capable of long distance ocean patrol—such as to our eastern or western coastlines and home again.

MISSILE STRENGTH

Then there is Russian missile power, inferior to that of U.S. but yet formidable and growing fast. Russia has positioned in Europe 600 MRBMs, whose medium range is 1,100 miles, and 100 IRBMs, whose intermediate range is 2,000 miles. Those don't threaten Canadian soil. But the Russian strength of inter-continental ICBM missiles, standing ready to fire, has expanded from 350 at the end of 1966, to 450 one year later, to 900 at the end of last year, and nearly 1,000 today. In addition Russia has 130 submarine-borne missiles which could be fired against Canadian targets. Some of the ICBMs form the Russian FOBS, or fractional orbital bombardment system, which could attack North America via the back door undetected by our warning system pointed north and east.

Does Russia need to divert so much manpower and productive capacity away from its under-supplied civilian economy to build up that military juggernaut just to defend Russian territory? Of course that force is infinitely greater than is needed for defensive purposes only.

So the western alliance, NATO, stands on guard along the Iron Curtain, facing those 2,750,000 communist soldiers and their aerial and naval and rocketry supports. NATO stands on guard with what? With a hoped-for army of 30 divisions, but in fact only about 24 divisions, or some 330,000 men in place—of which 5,500 soldiers are Canadian.

Postmaster General Eric Kierans argues that no military threat menaces Canada, so we should withdraw from NATO. What Canada really needs from Kierans is a better six cent mail service.

Fishermen Around Malaysia's Coast Go In Dread Of Skull And Crossbones

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)

—The symbolic skull and crossbones, made famous by countless Hollywood pirate movies, is still a terrifying fact for hundreds of fishermen around Malaysia's long coastline.

It means for them not the glamor of swashbuckling sword-fights and beautiful women, but the harsh reality of lost fishing nets, some worth thousands of dollars, stolen personal possessions and hard cash in ransom money.

Malaysia's naval chief, Commodore K. Thanabalasingam, says piracy around the coast over the last year has dropped considerably as a result of better patrolling, and the situation is under control.

But the menace remained big enough for Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman recently to order the establishment of voluntary armed anti-piracy groups to be built up among the fishermen on the northwest island of Langkawi.

Modern piracy has none of the glamor of the old. It is petty and it usually hits those who can least afford it—the small fisherman out in a two- or three-man boat, living from day to day on his catch.

The naval chief said just over 30 cases of piracy were reported to him last year, compared with 93 in 1967.

But fishermen around the southern coast of West Malaysia say they are often afraid of reporting being stopped for fear of reprisals when next they put to sea.

SAFE SMELL

BLETCHLEY, England (CP) — Worried residents here phoned their gas supply office when they smelled gas, but they were told there was no danger. It wasn't the gas that was leaking, just the smell from a storage tank. This Buckinghamshire community now uses natural gas piped in from the North Sea bed which is odorless. Engineers add the smell as a safety measure.

Kites Can Be Dangerous

Kite flying can be great fun. But it can also be dangerous, even fatal, if common sense safety rules are not followed.

Like marbles, kites come out with the fresh breezes of spring. Unlike marbles, however, kites each year cross power lines, black out whole communities, cause costly industrial shut downs, and threaten youngsters who fly them with serious injury.

Each year newspapers, radio stations and power utilities across Canada provide a community service by urging parents to educate their children in the need for safety.

Following is the Kite Flyers' Code with the suggestion that parents cut it out and have their children memorize it—and then LIVE by it!

Fly kites in an open field or park, away from power lines, transmission towers and poles.

Use perfectly dry string, never wire or metallic string.

Don't try to remove a kite if it catches on an electric power line, tower or pole.

Never use any metal in making a kite.

Never fly a kite on or near a public highway.

Never fly a kite in wet or stormy weather.

CANADA'S STORY

Prairie Settlements Change Their Names

By BOB BOWMAN

When Canada bought the North West Territories from the Hudson's Bay Company in 1870, Battleford was British Columbia capital. Then British Columbia joined Confederation on the understanding that a railway would be built to the Pacific and the route chosen was far south of Battleford. This was to avoid a wide gap between the CPR and railways in the U.S. which might have been exploited by the Americans.

It was felt that the capital must be on the railway, and so it was decided to move from Battleford to Pile o' Bones Crossing on Wascana Creek, a favorite camping ground of the buffalo hunters. Of course Pile o' Bones was not a suitable name for a capital, and so it was changed to Regina, the Latin word for Queen, suggested by Princess Louise, wife of the Governor-General and a daughter of Queen Victoria. Regina became the capital of the North West Territories on March 27, 1883.

In the meantime the railway had already reached there, and the west was beginning to boom. On the same day that Regina became the capital, the first organized group of settlers left Toronto and arrived at Troy on April 1. Then the name Troy was changed to Qu'Appelle. Evidently it was felt that an Indian legend was preferable to a Greek legend, and Qu'Appelle was the French version of a favorite romantic story of prairie Indians. The name of course means "Who Calls?"

Other settlements built about the same time included York Colony, now Yorkton; Cannington Manor Colony south of Moonbeam, and Crescent Lake Colony southwest of Saltcoats. Unfortunately the Crescent Lake settlers had to move when the Manitoba and Northwestern Railroad, which had been expected to go through there, was shifted to a more northerly course.

OTHER EVENTS ON MAR. 27:
1632—Isaac de Razilly was commissioned to receive Port Royal from England as result of agreement with France.

1647—Canada received first political constitution which was revised one year later.
1690—Canadians and Indians under Francois Hertel attacked Salmon Falls, Maine.

Bygone Days

10 YEARS AGO March 1959

Kelowna Teddy Bears, Senior B Women's basketball team, in a masterful exhibition of zone play, clobbered the Victoria Bees 48-24 and walked off with their second straight provincial championship, in three straight games. Coach of the team is Bob Hall, Kelowna players and scorers: Vaisanen 8, Bennisson, Berard 7, Marg Fielder 5, Roslyn Fielder 2, Stewart 12, Welder 1, Cumming 2, Taylor 8, Cook, Total: 48.

20 YEARS AGO March 1949

The Kelowna Girl Guides Association entertained at "Hochelaga," the home of Mrs. W. A. Holton, in aid of their campaign fund. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. H. Arbuckle, Mrs. O. St.P. Aitkens, Mrs. W. J. Knox and Mrs. W.

B. Hughes-Games. The patrol leaders of the Guides acted as serviteurs.

30 YEARS AGO March 1939

Dick Parkinson was named chairman of a committee to arrange for Kelowna people to travel to Revelstoke to see the King and Queen during their visit to this country, towards the end of May. The appointment was made by the Board of Trade. E. Abbott is the board representative on the committee. Mayor O. L. Jones and Ald. Horn represent the city. J. R. Armstrong and L. V. Campbell represent the Junior board.

40 YEARS AGO March 1929

The ceremony of turning the sod at the start of construction of Kelowna's new Public School on the west side of Richter Street was performed by Mayor Sutherland. Trustee Dave Chapman commented that in view of the fact that the mayor was Kelowna's first school teacher, it was especially fitting that he should be chosen to perform the task. Mr. T. G. Norris, president of the Board of Trade declared the building a mark of Kelowna's progress.

50 YEARS AGO March 1919

The Rutland branch of the United Farmers of B.C. claimed that taxes on farm lands had increased as much as 300 per cent, and decided to investigate the advantage of forming a rural municipality. Mr. W. Schell was delegated to obtain full particulars from the superintendent of municipal affairs. S. T. Elliot was chairman.

60 YEARS AGO March 1909

Mr. Duncan Ross, ex-M.P., is starting a newspaper in Vancouver, a daily.

Nursing Institute First For Vernon

First of its kind in Vernon, a Nursing Institute, is being sponsored by the Vernon chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association and School District 22.

Titled "New Concepts in Coronary Care", the institute will commence on May 2 at 8:30 p.m. and continue on May 3 at the W. L. Seaton Junior High School Library, Vernon. Key-note speaker the first evening will be Dr. T. S. G. McMurtry, M.D., F.R.C.P. (C).

Instructor on May 3 is Mrs. Heidi Hintz, instructor at the School of Nursing, UBC. Discussion groups will augment the lecture periods during the course.

Registration must be completed by March 31 and should be sent to N. Turk, Director of Adult Education, School District No. 22 (Vernon), Polson Park, Vernon, B.C. All nurses from the Kamloops-Okanagan District are invited to participate.

CHILLED CROC
PAIGNTON, England (CP) — Surgeons carried out a "first" at a Devon zoo—a heart operation on a crocodile. The six-foot reptile had been ailing for a month when he was operated on to drain fluid from around his heart. Because of his slow blood circulation, the crocodile could not be anesthetized with drugs and was frozen with blocks of ice until his body was stiff.

MR. AND MRS. SYLVAN TAYLOR
(Pope's Studio)

Spring Flowers Decorate Church

Spring flowers decorated St. Paul's United Church on March 16 for the 5 p.m. wedding of Lorelei Yvonne Herman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horst Herman, Rutland and Sylvan David Taylor, Rocky Mountain House, Alta., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Taylor, Lacombe, Alta. Rev. F. H. Gohlighly officiated at the ceremony.

Soloist Pennie Berreth of Calgary who sang, "I'll Walk Beside You" was accompanied by Carolyn Kneller of Rutland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a short white silk sleeveless dress with a coat of Chantilly lace. A shoulder length veil of nylon net fell from a tulle of aurora borealis cut crystals and she carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

Maid-of-honor, Caroline Johnson, Wetaskiwin, Alta. and bridesmaid, Allison Herman Rutland were matching dresses of deep pink crepe. Their short nylon net veils fell from tiaras.

The groom was attended by Ken Taylor, as best man and Delmer Taylor, both of Lacombe. Ushers were Roger Kneller and Lorne Herman of Rutland.

During the reception at the Capri, the toast to the bride proposed by Ken Taylor was answered by the groom.

The newlyweds will make their home at Rocky Mountain House.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Dave Smart of Williams Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Suda, and Mrs. Lydia Friezen, all of Calgary and Arlene Kell of Lacombe.

ANN LANDERS

Many 'New Leafs' Flip Over And Go Straight

Dear Ann Landers: I read with amazement your suggestion that shoplifters mail to the store credit manager. I am sorry, of course, I can't pay for at least part of the merchandise they pilfered. You must be kidding.

You don't believe the credit managers will actually turn over the money to the store, do you? Most people are dishonest and credit managers are only human. Cash, sent anonymously, is too great a temptation. So, why don't you wake up and smell the coffee?—Surprised At Your Stupidity.

Dear Sur: Thanks for your vote of no confidence in the human race. The following letters might be of interest to you:

From Aberdeen, South Dakota: I've been a merchant for several years and cannot remember receiving any payments for merchandise that has been shoplifted. This past week I received two envelopes with money. One envelope contained a scrap of paper which read: "I.O.U." The other contained a note which said, "This is to pay for something I stole from your store. I am sorry. I'm sure these payments are the result of your recent column.—Merle Klein's Big Dollar.

Quincy, Illinois: Received today $1.25 as a direct result of your column. Thanks Ann.—Carl Fain, Manager, Woolworth Store.

Youngstown, Ohio: Shortly after Christmas I received a $5 bill for a pair of scissors. The person signed the note "New Leaf", the same signature as the shoplifter in your column.—D. W. Smith of McKelvey's Franklin Park, Ill.: For the first time that anyone in this store can remember, we received payment for stolen merchandise. Two one-dollar bills came wrapped in your column.—W. T. Grant Co., Mannheim Rd.

Long Island, N.Y.: I am enclosing the note which accompanied payment for some personal items which were stolen from our store. This should make you feel good.—George K. Manager of Nassau 5 & 10, Wellsville, Ohio: Believe it or not, I was reading your column

Honored Guest Receives Cake

A bridal shower was held recently at the home of Mrs. Bob Charlesworth in honor of Sandra Falk. On arrival Sandra was presented with a corsage of pink roses. Friends and neighbors gathered to honor the bride-to-be and presented her with many lovely and useful gifts.

Mrs. Anne Parenteau fashioned a beautiful hat from the ribbons and bows. Sandra thanked her guests both for attending and for the gifts. A delightful array of sandwiches and cakes were served by the hostesses Mrs. Charlesworth, Mrs. Ken Stewart and Mrs. Gary Embleton. A lovely cake with a bridal ornament was presented to Sandra.

A CLUB SCRAPBOOK
Keeping a record of your club's activities is not only a pleasurable idea for current club members and a nostalgic remembrance of a year, but it also becomes a center where future members can acquaint themselves with the club's growth. Of course the easiest way is to start with the birth of a new club. Pictures taken at special dances, copies of the club newsletter, dance invitations, newspaper clippings about the group, and possibly a few jottings here and there listing club officers, activities, etc., maintain a sense of continuity.

However if your club is a going concern and you only now are thinking about getting a club scrapbook together, you'll have to do a bit of scrounging to come up with what happened "yesterday." Why not have a get together which will include those charter members who are still with you and just talk about the club's beginnings. A hidden tape recorder will keep the facts for you but will not intimidate anyone who freezes up before a microphone. A later transcription of the tape will allow you to put into sequence a history of your club. It's also possible that some of the "old-timers" will have pictures and copies of dance invitations somewhere about the house which they would be willing to part with for the cause. It's time for a thorough house-cleaning anyway and that's the best time to unearth bits and pieces of hidden memorabilia.

Once you've brought your scrapbook up to the present, the task should be relatively simple and perhaps all club members, on a round robin basis, can keep it current. Till next week, Happy Square Dancing.

Shower Honors Sandra Falk

A very enjoyable bridal shower for Sandra Falk was held recently at the home of Mrs. Percy Wolfe. More than 20 close neighbors and friends gathered to wish her happiness. Gifts and money and recipes were presented to Sandra on a money-tree; a miniature evergreen decorated with pink roses and shower cards. Sandra thanked her many guests and expressed a wish that they might someday visit her in Ontario. A delicious lunch followed and a visit between friendly neighbors.

Badminton Stars Upset In Closed Championship

TORONTO (CP) — Yves Pare of Montreal, never considered a strong singles player, upset the seedings for the Canadian closed badminton championships Wednesday, eliminating the No. 1 and No. 3 ranked players to advance to the finals against his doubles partner.

Pare scored 10 straight points in the third set to surprise top-ranked Bruce Rollick of Vancouver in the quarter-finals, 8-15, 15-11, 15-8. Then he shocked six-time closed singles titlist Wayne MacDonnell, 18-17, 10-15, 15-12 in the semis.

Now he meets Jamie Paulson, his 20-year-old doubles partner, who beat him for the national junior crown in 1964.

Paulson gave up only six points en route to a 15-3, 15-3 victory over unranked Pat Chawka, an East Indian professional from Winnipeg.

Pare and Paulson, defending doubles champions, won handily over MacDonnell and Rolf Patterson of Vancouver, 15-10, 15-10. But second-seeded Rollick and Bert Ferguson, also of Vancouver, got a rude awakening when they met unranked Geoff and Greg Harris of Edmonton.

WIFE GAINS BERTH

The 21-year-old twins stopped the pair 15-7, 15-10, after winning a tough quarter-final match from Lane Bickell and Harold Moody, both of Montreal, 15-7, 11-15, 18-16.

Rollick's wife, Judi, gained a birth in the women's singles final with a 11-4, 11-3 victory over first-seeded Sharon Whittaker, the defending champion from Vancouver.

Mrs. Rollick now plays Allison Daismith of Vancouver in the finals—the same girl who defeated her for the Canadian junior title in 1962.

Miss Daismith eliminated Nancy McKinley of Toronto, last year's national junior winner, 11-7, 12-9.

Mrs. Rollick and Mimi Nilson of Vancouver are favored to take the women's doubles, thanks to a Toronto team which knocked out Miss Whittaker and Miss Daismith, the pre-tournament favorites.

Marge Sheed and Barbara Hood took a surprise 15-1, 15-12 victory over getting into the semi-finals on a default. Joyce Paton of Niagara Falls, Ont., suffered a severe muscle strain in her left leg during her match with Barbara O'Brien of Toronto against the Toronto seasoned pair and the teenagers were forced to withdraw. Miss Paton's leg was later put in a cast.

Toronto Takes Big Step To Making Playoff Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It looks as if Punch Imlach, who has guided Toronto Maple Leafs into the National Hockey League playoffs in nine of the last 10 seasons, will do it again this year.

At least, the Leafs took a big step in that direction Wednesday night with a 6-4 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

In other games, Chicago Black Hawks topped New York Rangers 6-4, Pittsburgh Penguins outscored Los Angeles 8-4 and St. Louis Blues downed Oakland Seals 5-3.

Toronto's victory, watched by 16,485 at Maple Leaf Gardens, moved the Leafs six points ahead of fifth-place Detroit Red Wings in the struggle for the fourth and final playoff position in the Eastern Division.

Detroit must win its remaining three games and Toronto lose its final three for the Red Wings to make the playoffs on the basis of more wins.

TOOK EARLY LEAD

The Canadiens jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals by Henri Richard, Ralph Backstrom and John Ferguson before Ron Ellis connected for Toronto.

Norm Ullman, Dave Keon and Jim Dorey scored second-period goals for Toronto and Jacques Lemaire replied for the Canadiens. Floyd Smith and Mike Walton tallied in the third period to give Toronto the victory.

The loss left the first-place Canadiens four points ahead of the runner-up Boston Bruins in the Eastern Division. Montreal has two games left and Boston three, and the two teams meet in a home-and-home series this weekend.

Kenny Wharram scored three goals and Bobby Hull netted his 56th of the season as Chicago, fighting to escape the Eastern Division cellar, upset New York before 16,686 Chicago fans.

Stan Mikita and Gilles Marotte picked up the other Chicago goals. Jean Ratelle scored twice for New York and rookie Walt Tkaczuk and Bob Nevin once each.

Hull scored his goal in the first period against Ed Giacomin of New York after taking a pass from Andre Boudrias.

SET PREVIOUS MARK

The record for most goals in a season had been 54 by Hull in 1965-66. He scored his 54th and 55th last Thursday against Boston.

Pittsburgh spotted Los Angeles an early 2-0 lead and then scored eight consecutive goals before 8,156 at Pittsburgh.

Sharing the Pittsburgh goals were Jean Pronovost, Bob Woytowich, Doug Barrie, Duane Rupp, Ron Snell, Lou Angotti.

Cougars Back In Contention After 5-4 Overtime Triumph

VICTORIA (CP) — Victoria Cougars scored twice in a 10-minute overtime session Wednesday night to defeat Lethbridge Sugar Kings 5-4.

The victory was the first for Cougars in the Western Canada Memorial Cup quarter-final after two losses in Lethbridge.

Grant Evans, with his second goal of the night, and Shayne Webster's and wiche goals around Gerry LeGrand's marker for the Sugar Kings in the opening three minutes of the extra session.

The score was tied 1-1 after the first period and 3-3 after the second with both goalkeepers—Don Hall of the Kings and Ron Grahame of Victoria—coming up with big saves in the scoreless third period.

Dave Shallow, in the first period, and Darrel Knibbs and Red Deer addition Wayne Zuk, in the second period, had put the Kings ahead.

However, the Cougars fought back each time, on Evans' goal in the first period and goals by Pentiction pickup Reg Cherenko and Kelowna addition Gene Carr in the second.

Hall finished with 50 saves, including 15 in the overtime session. Grahame had 55 stops for the Cougars.

Next game is Friday in Victoria. Other games, as needed, all in Victoria, are Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

Ken Schinkel and Keith McCreary. Ed Joyal and Gary Croteau were the Los Angeles scorers.

It was the fourth straight victory for the sixth-place Penguins, who trail fifth-place Minnesota North Stars by two points in the Western Division.

Red Berenson scored two goals and assisted on another to help St. Louis to a triumph in front of 4,428 at Oakland.

Other St. Louis goals went to Terry Gray, Gary Sabourin and Ron Schock. Ted Hampson had two for Oakland and Gerry Ehman one.

Nats Face Last Chance To Take Hockey Medal

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canadian hockey officials want an early assurance from their federal government that East Germany can fly its flag and play its national anthem at the 1970 world championship in Canada.

East Germany will send a hockey team to next year's tournament March 15-31 in Montreal and Winnipeg. The flag-and-anthem issue comes up because it's part of the ceremonies for winning teams, and the East Germans figure to win a game or two.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association set a May 1 deadline for the Canadian government to give its written assurances. Canada doesn't recognize East Germany.

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearn, European president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, parent body of world amateur hockey, said Wednesday that "if such assurances are not forthcoming, the games will go to a European country."

The IIHF wants the assurances in writing by the time its congress meets in Switzerland in July. The May 1 deadline was set to allow the CAHA enough time to comply with the IIHF's stipulation.

The Congress will have several major decisions to make, including a Canadian proposal calling for reinstatement of professionals for the duration of the 1970 tournament, enabling them to play on national teams.

Canada's present national squad, comprising mainly university students, faces elimination today from medal contention, meeting Sweden at 1 p.m. in the only game scheduled.

Sweden defeated Canada 5-1 March 21.

Russia defeated Finland 7-3 Wednesday and Czechoslovakia battered the United States 6-2. The victories kept Russia and Czechoslovakia in a neck-and-neck drive for the title, each with 11 win-loss marks and 14 points.

The Russians and Czechs already are assured medals and the Swedes can join them today in the medal circle with one more victory. Sweden is third with 5-2 and 10 points and Canada is fourth with 3-4 and six points.

The Russians or Czechs can finish no lower than third and the bronze award. Russia has two games left — against the Czechs and then Canada on Sunday, the last day of the two-week tournament.

The Czechs play Sweden Sunday and the Canadians meet the Finnish team Saturday.

SCORES TWO GOALS

Vaclav Nedomansky with two and Jan Havel, Frantisek Pospisil, Josef Cerny and Oldrich Machac scored for Czechoslovakia against the U.S. Larry Pleau and Larry Skime were the American goal-getters.

U.S. goalie Mike Curran brought his total saves for the tournament to 300 by stopping 39 Czech shots. Miroslav Lacky made 18 saves for Czechoslovakia.

Seven Russians scored in the win over Finland. Leading scorer Anatoly Firsov got one of the goals, his ninth of the tournament. Russia used two goalies — Viktor Zinger who made a dozen saves and Viktor Putyakov who had five in the third period.

Urho Ylonen of Finland was replaced by Lasse Kilki with Russia ahead 1-0. Kilki had worse luck, letting three goals past him in the second period for a 4-0 Soviet lead, and the emergency call went out for Ylonen to return. Russia had 31 shots on goal.

Finland and Sweden lead the Fair Play Cup competition, awarded to the country with the least total minutes in penalties — each with 6 minutes. Russia has 68, Canada 80, the U.S. 84 and Czechoslovakia 85.

Canadians Want An End To Criticism Of Referees

STOCKHOLM (CP) — A meeting between the Canadian ambassador and top Canadian hockey officials has led to a demand that coaches stop criticizing the refereeing at the world hockey championship.

The "stern warning" to the coaches and managers of all six competing teams went out today.

The situation arose when Ambassador Arthur Andrew asked four hockey representatives to visit him in his office where he expressed concern over adverse criticism being given rough Canadian tactics in the Swedish press.

Singled out was an article quoting Swedish coach Arne Stromberg and which criticized, among other points, the refereeing.

Attending the meeting at the embassy was Gordon Juckes, executive-director of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Fred Page of Vancouver, vice-president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, Lew Lefavre, director of fitness and amateur sport and Chris Lang, a member of Lefavre's staff.

"The ambassador's secretary telephoned us and asked us to go over," Juckes said.

"He said he was concerned about the image Canada was gaining from Swedish reports of hockey roughness. We told him we ignored the Swedish press but we could see his point—he has to live here."

"We said we would take his suggestions and thoughts back to our people in Canada."

DISCUSSED AT MEETING

The criticism was brought by Canada before a directors' meeting of the IIHF Wednesday night and comments critical of the refereeing and of the IIHF were pointed out.

"The directive, a stern warning, went out to the coaches today," Juckes said.

Stromberg has not been alone in his criticism of the refereeing. A United States team official, in a post-game press conference last week, said of Canadian referees Ed Joyal and Marcel Vaillancourt: "I hope we don't get them again."

Andrew, interviewed following the meeting with the Canadian Hockey officials, said:

"It was all a question of the publicity hockey gets in Sweden. I don't think it's very good."

"My job is to maintain nice warm relations and this is something that concerns me."

"We kicked around two or three suggestions and I explained the embassy's position."

"I don't know much about hockey but I want to make it clear: I am not criticizing Canadian hockey. It is the bad press that worries me."

"It's just a lousy situation and I would like to find a way to soften it."

"The thing I don't know is how much impression these stories make on the average Swede. If I felt they were taking it seriously, I would be very depressed indeed."

Senior Curling Examined By Authority In Kelowna

Following is the last of a two-part speech Mr. Hobbs made to the meeting of the B.C. Senior Curling Association in Kelowna during the past weekend:

By WALTER HOBBS

I would further point out that at the Oshawa 1969 meeting, and I quote from the CCA minutes as follows. Mr. Baker also stated that their board of Directors had made the decision that unless the age limit is reduced to 50 years and over with a 210 minimum aggregate that they would not be renewing the present contract. End of quote. Thus you can see why the CCA felt obligated to bring down the age, however I can assure you that this matter was not resolved too easily, for on a recorded vote which I believe was something like 23 to 16, the sponsor and some of the small associations plus two of the larger ones finally accomplished their purpose — which was undoubtedly the end for the true senior curler.

At this time I would like to draw to your attention that both the PCCA and the BCCA did everything in their power to stop this from happening, therefore no blame whatsoever should be attached to the British Columbia Curling Association. I also believe from observation that all of Ontario, both north and south, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick were behind us. The affiliated membership of these associations number 60,000.

Space will not permit me to go into the vagaries of the voting power within the Canadian Curling Association, but to give you some idea Newfoundland, with but 1,100 affiliated members have three votes. P.E.I. with 690 affiliated members have four votes, while the whole of B.C. with more than 13,000 members have but five, and Saskatchewan with 16,500 have four.

Now I might say this, that although Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta voted for the reduced age, do not think for one minute that the Seniors of these provinces are in accord, definitely they are not, but as I have stated before, the youngsters have taken over. Many of the Seniors have assured me that they are willing to now go forward to set up a National play-down for 60 and over, with or without a sponsor, feeling that their own Senior groups would now organize outside of the provincial associations, then assist a winning team from their province to a national play-down.

With this in mind I would suggest that there be set up within this Senior Association a steering committee made up of two members in their early 60's and two in their late 60's to look into and implement a provincial playdown with possible national implication.

Most are now paying a fee to this association and another $1.25 to the BCCA.

I would suggest that this goes into one only fund at this level. I would end with the fact that there just might be a national sponsor available but at this time I am not in a position to make this a definite statement.

Murcer Helping Yankees In Pre-Season Baseball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Murcer has come back, and New York Yankees are glad he did.

Murcer received raves two years ago in spring training when the Yankees had him ticketed to play shortstop. But the 29-year-old infielder wound up in the U.S. Army instead.

Now back as a third baseman, Murcer rapped his 21st and 22nd hits of the spring Wednesday in a 7-2 exhibition baseball victory over Detroit Tigers.

Several other rookies also had hot hands as Larry Hise slugged two three-run homers and Ron Stone rapped a homer, two doubles and a single in Philadelphia Phillies' 11-1 rout of Houston Astros.

Wayne Garrett slugged two solo homers for New York Mets in a 6-3 decision over Cincinnati Reds, and Rudy May hurled seven shutout innings as California Angels blasted Oakland Athletics 9-3.

In other games, Minnesota Twins edged Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3, Chicago White Sox nipped Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1, St. Louis Cardinals tripped Boston Red Sox 2-1, Baltimore Orioles beat Washington Senators 3-2, Chicago Cubs blasted Cleveland Indians 10-0 and San Francisco Giants outslugged Seattle Pilots 7-5.

Rain washed out Kansas City's game against Atlanta and Montreal's contest with the Yankees' B team.

Crisp, colourful windowpane checks from Cambridge

"Tattersall, Houndstooth, Shepherds' and Glen checks have all had their day. Now it's the turn of windowpane checks. Bigger and bolder than ever before for the new youthful look."

Cambridge has chosen windowpane checks that are not only larger—but are more crisply defined and full of colour. When you visit our store you'll see pure wool fabrics with cool tan backgrounds that have checks of rust on blue, green on rust, green on blue, green on brown, blue on rust and blue on olive. And that's to mention only a few!

And Cambridge hasn't kept these lively windowpane checks just for sportswear. There are single- and double-breasted suits that are perfectly suited for wear at the office. (Take a look at our photo.) You'll even find blazers with bright, crisp checks.

By the way, Cambridge has chosen fabrics woven from pure virgin wool to keep you cool during warm days and warm during cool days—and look for the Woolmark on the label, it means the fabrics have been tested to meet high International standards of quality.

When you try on a suit or jacket, you'll discover these bold new checks actually make you feel younger and bolder. So drop by. See the new size in windowpane checks."

Much Homework Set In Report

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of professors gave labor, management and government a whopping homework assignment Wednesday: A 100,000-word recommendation-packed report on Canadian industrial relations.

The volume represents more than two years' work by a federally commissioned study group headed by Dean H. D. Woods of McGill University, Montreal.

Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey, tabling the document in the Commons, paid tribute to Dean Woods and his assistants—Dean A. W. R. Carrothers of the University of Western Ontario, London; Prof. J. H. G. Crispo, University of Toronto; and Abbejerard Dion, Laval University, Quebec City.

Mr. Mackasey told the Commons his department would review the recommendations and consult labor and management organizations and provincial labor ministers.

This review would not be completed at this session of Parliament, but it was his intention to come up with "proposals for public policy and legislation that will help maintain the Canadian reputation for sound and progressive labor-management relations."

The report endorses the present industrial relations system both because of its virtues and because no alternative compatible with "the heritage of Western values" could be found. The report says no conclusive evidence was found that collective bargaining is the villain behind inflation. However, it recommends an increase in government involvement.

SUGGESTS A COMMISSION
On disputes jeopardizing the public interest, the report recommends creation of a three-man "public interest disputes commission," independent of government departments and reporting directly to the prime minister.

It would determine "special procedures" for resolving such disputes and, if necessary, step into actual disputes in industries under federal jurisdiction—those covered by the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act.

If procedures such as conciliation and mediation, non-binding arbitration, voluntary binding arbitration and industrial inquiries proved unsuccessful, the commission would, on request of the government, advise on the dangers to the public interest.

The government could also request a report recommending further measures in the event of an actual work stoppage. "Here the commission would be at liberty to consider the merits of seizure, trusteeship, partial operation, statutory strike and compulsory arbitration."

BIG EMPLOYER
Canadian sawmills now employ over 45,000 workers and have an annual output valued at about $700,000,000.

The bidding:
South West North East

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Bridge is an exacting game that depends largely on flawless reasoning. It is true you can occasionally stray from the straight and narrow and still come home safe and sound, but if you regularly make careless bids or plays, you will from time to time have to pay for your transgressions.

South was in four spades and the defense got off to a fast start when they cashed the K-A-Q of diamonds in succession. West then shifted to the ten of hearts.

Declarer won with the ace and started to draw trumps, expecting to easily make the rest. But when he led the ace, West showed out and there was now no way to prevent East from winning a trump trick. So South went down one.

Of course, South was unlucky to find the trumps divided 4-0. This would not ordinarily occur in more than one deal out of ten. Consequently his play of the ace of spades, though technically wrong, would make absolutely no difference in the overwhelming majority of deals.

But in this deal, with East having all four spades, the play was fatal and South went down one instead of making the contract.

The proper way of attacking the trumps was to first lead low to the king. With West showing out, picking up East's trumps without loss would then become child's play.

If East followed low on the first trump lead from dummy, South would finesse the nine; if East put up the ten instead, South would win with the queen, cross to dummy with a club, and lead another trump to trap East's J-7.

Playing the spades in the proper order was simply a question of guarding against a 4-0 division. If West had all four, no method of play could stop him from winning a trick. But if East had them, only a low spade to the king would expose the situation and permit South to avoid a trump loser.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

If you are careful to avoid extravagance and refuse to make hasty decisions, no matter what pressure is put upon you, you should find Friday a highly enjoyable day. Especially favored: Outdoor pursuits, personal relationships and hobbies of a creative nature.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that fine job and financial attainment is "in the stars" between now and the time that your next birthday rolls around. On the monetary score, the period between now and June 30 promises to be a highly satisfactory one, especially where long-range ventures are concerned.

"Mark time" during July and August, and you can then look forward to another excellent month cycle for fiscal expansion, beginning on Sept. 1, and a third — lasting for three months — beginning on Feb. 1.

Career interests will be governed by generous planetary influences for most of the next 12 months, but your best periods for accomplishment and recognition are star-promised in April, July, September, November, December, next January and February. Creative and scientific workers should find June, early September, December and February marked by notable attainment.

All in all, your prospects for the year ahead are rosy on practically all fronts. Romance will be governed by generous stellar aspects between early May and Sept. 15, also in October and December—the latter two months, incidentally, also propitious for short trips. If you have a long journey in mind, however, prepare to take off in July or August and your trip should be most enjoyable.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine intellect and a magnetic personality could make a great success in the entertainment field.

MORTGAGE MONEY

If you have invested money in a home it is probably the best collateral you have. For example, by using this equity at Seaboard Finance most home owners can obtain a lower interest rate than is possible on a personal loan. And at Seaboard you can borrow up to 80% of the value of your property, or in some cases even more. See us for cash today.

Canada Urged To Continue Role In Atlantic Alliance

OTTAWA (CP) — After a thorough review of existing policies, the Commons committee on defence and external affairs has recommended that Canada continue its military participation in the Atlantic alliance.

An interim report tabled Wednesday by chairman Ian Wain (L-Toronto St. Paul's) advocated maintenance of the present position in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The report, culmination of more than two months' study by the committee, said:

"Canada should continue to play an effective role in the preservation of peace through membership in NATO. Canada should continue to maintain forces in Europe as a contribution to the collective defence arrangements of NATO."

The 30-member committee, which returned to Canada last Saturday following a tour of Allied capitals and NATO installations in Europe, found that conflicts in Europe, unless speedily controlled, could develop into a destructive nuclear exchange in which Canada and its territory "would inevitably be affected."

WANT A DETERRENT
"The presence and availability for immediate use of adequate conventional NATO forces in Europe is important to provide a credible deterrent and time for negotiation in the event of limited hostilities."

Canada's present contribution to NATO forces in Europe consists of a six-squadron air division, made up of two squadrons of reconnaissance planes and four of strike aircraft with nuclear capability, and a mechanized brigade group. The brigade group, with its Honest John artillery rockets, also has a nuclear capability.

The committee said Canada should continue its present role in Europe "until such time as the main items of equipment for its air division and mechanized brigade require replacement."

The closest it came to recommending any change in present policies was a statement to the effect that long-term roles of NATO-assigned forces "must be reviewed promptly and kept under periodic review."

During its hearings, the committee heard frequent criticism that equipment for Canadian forces in Europe is greatly different from that of forces based in Canada.

Decisions on roles must be arrived at "in sufficient time to negotiate with our allies, if necessary, to acquire new equipment and to retrain forces," the report said.

While favoring a continued Canadian military presence in Europe, the committee said Canada, through NATO, should use its influence to promote understanding between East and West.

art about Judge Kurata before an incident in the judge's office at city hall Nov. 15, which resulted in policeman Watson's complaint of indecency.

Judge Kurata denied testimony by Mrs. Watson that he had mistaken her for a prostitute or led her by the hand to his office last Nov. 15.

He described as "pure fabrication" Mrs. Watson's testimony that he had touched her breast, mentioned undressing or spoken of another girl who had received a suspended sentence.

Judge Kurata also denied that he had told Constable Thomas Moclair that Mrs. Watson deserved a promotion and termed as "a fabrication" the constable's statement that he had said such a thing.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Lonsberry testified that Judge Kurata beckoned her into his office last November, made advances to her and committed an indecent act in his washroom.

Judge Kurata told the inquiry Wednesday he had never seen Mrs. Lonsberry until her appearance as a witness at the hearing.

Documents produced by defence lawyer Arthur Maloney showed that the inquiry had been initiated by a letter written Nov. 22 by James Mackey, Metropolitan Toronto police chief, to Chief Judge Arthur Klein.

Chief Mackey said in the letter that he had conferred with Attorney-General Arthur Wishart.

Judge Testifies At Hearing To Investigate His Behaviour

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Judge Lucien Kurata, testifying at an inquiry into his behavior, said Wednesday that statements made about him by two police officers and an admitted prostitute were untrue.

Judge Kurata was defending himself against accusations that he had indecently assaulted policeman Marlene Watson and had attempted suicide last Sept. 1 at his Toronto home.

He also said there was "not a scintilla of truth" in the testimony given by Mrs. Catherine Lonsberry.

Mrs. Lonsberry, 25, admitted at the hearing that she had been convicted, since 1960, of theft, possession of narcotics and several charges of vagrancy C, described as "being a street walker or common prostitute unable to give a good account of her actions."

On Tuesday, Mrs. Lonsberry testified that Judge Kurata beckoned her into his office last November, made advances to her and committed an indecent act in his washroom.

Judge Kurata told the inquiry Wednesday he had never seen Mrs. Lonsberry until her appearance as a witness at the hearing.

Documents produced by defence lawyer Arthur Maloney showed that the inquiry had been initiated by a letter written Nov. 22 by James Mackey, Metropolitan Toronto police chief, to Chief Judge Arthur Klein.

Chief Mackey said in the letter that he had conferred with Attorney-General Arthur Wishart.
